LIQUID ALCHEMIST

As a Cocktail Syrup company, we love cocktails and we love the spirits that go into them. We also understand the importance of having healthy boundaries with alcohol. Taking a break from alcohol or switching to low-abv drinks can be an important step in evaluating your relationship with alcohol.

This guide will help you take a 31 day break from alcohol and provide you 22 non-alcoholic and low-abv recipes, information on great non-alcoholic spirit options, resources for setting taking a step back from alcohol, and places to look for non-alcoholic and sober curious lifestyle inspiration.

Taking A Step Back From Alcohol

Taking a step back from alcohol gives you an opportunity to evaluate when, why, and how much you drink. It also can help you discover how alcohol is affecting your sleep, skin, and overall health.

Here are a few tips for successfully taking a break from alcohol:

Tell your crew. Telling people ahead of time helps avoid the awkward in-the-moment explanation.

Find alcohol alternatives. Check out the non-alc cocktail ideas in this guide and the mocktails popping up in restaurants and bars menus.

Find activity alternatives. Think about when you drink and plan if you need to swap that part of your day with a new activity.

Pay attention to your body. Take notice if you are sleeping better, feeling more energized, or any other changes.

Plan for what is next. Think about how you want to approach drinking after your break from alcohol is over or if you want to extend your break.

Taking A Step Back From Alcohol Resources

We are not experts on addiction, boundary setting, or health. For more information, check out the resources below:

If you need to assess your drinking habits, visit the National Institutes of Health's Rethinking Drinking Tools

If you are struggling with addiction, visit the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration or call 1-800-662-4357.

Damp vs. Dry

In the past couple of years there has been a lot of buzz around the idea of going 'Damp' for periods of time verses going 'Dry'. Going 'Damp' is a great option if you want to step away from your usual alcohol consumption but still want the option to have a drink at a special occasion or to consume low-alcohol drinks.

We have included some low-alcohol (also known as low-abv) cocktails in this guide that are great alternatives to traditional cocktails. They will still give you the feeling of an alcohol-based cocktail, while using ingredients like lower-proof spirits and bitters to replace traditional spirits.

LIQUID ALCHEMIST

Non-Alcoholic Spirits

Non-alcoholic spirits are exactly what they sound like – spirits without alcohol. These spirits are made either by stopping the fermentation process before the alcohol forms or evaporating the alcohol from the spirit after the fermentation process. Both processes preserve the flavor of the spirit sans alcohol, making your margaritas still taste like margaritas.

There are quite a few n/a spirit brands out there, but our favorites are Ritual Zero Proof, Seedlip, Lyre's, Optimist, & Pentire.
